Usefull Tips for Farmers

In Homoeopathy it is called as a holistic approach of treatment because including the mind 14 systems are evaluated to treat a patient and to search the cause of disease. Totality of symptoms is taken into account before arriving at a remedy. It deals with the whole patient as one unit and not by part. It aids the nature in the body and vitalizes itself and thus repairs the system. The cure is gentle, quick and permanent. The order of cure is last comes first go, center to circumference and upward to downward. It believes in single drug, minimum dose and infrequent repetition.

- 1. Thuja occidentalis: It increases the animal's immunity against bacterial and viral infections, thereby resulting in better distribution of energy towards milk yield improvement.
- 2. Avena sativa: It is a high energy source with de-stressing abilities, reducing the need to use hormone injections. It improves energy levels and milk yield. acts as a tonic.
- 3. Ricinus communis Q: It improves digestion and also helps to eliminate various types of worms present in the digestive tract. Improves milk yield.
- 4. Withania somniflora: It improves strength and immunity, let down.
- 5. Asparagus racemosus: It improves lactation.
- 6. Alfalfa or Medicago sativa: Alfalfa provides proteins, vitamins and minerals. This results in improved energy generation and lactation.
- 7. Neem (Azadirachta indica) works on gastro-intestinal tract to improve digestion and food absorption.

Brief Descriptions of Some Homeopathic Medicines Commonly Used with First Aid

It is critical to follow standard rehabilitation practices such as supplemental heat, good diets, appropriate caging, and, of course, veterinary consultation.

- 1. Aconitum napellus (Acon) – Extremely useful for INTENSE FEAR. Severe shock, especially shock from fright or accident. Symptoms are intense, painful, and acute (occur quickly). Hemorrhages are bright red. May be very restless or timid. Acute inflammation and infection.
- 2. Agaricus (Amanita muscaria)
For symptoms associated with frostbite, chilblains, and poisonings. Gangrene from freezing of tissues. Tails, feet, ears, etc. damaged by freezing.
- 3. Allium cepa (Red Onion)
Catarrh, coryza, and hay fever where discharge from eyes is watery and from the nose is acrid, leaving raw streaks where it drips.
- 4. Antimonium tartarticum (Tartar emetic)

For respiratory conditions where there is a heavy rattling in the chest. Pneumonias, bronchitis, asthma and whooping cough with thick white mucous, difficulty breathing, and deep cough.

5. Apis (Honey bee poison)

For tissues that are edematous, red, hot and extremely painful. Hives.

6. Argentum nitricum (Silver nitrate)

Useful for animals afraid to come into enclosed spaces or through narrow openings. Emotional diarrhea.

7. Arnica montana (Arn) –First remedy for TRAUMATIC INJURY, such as bruises, head trauma, sprains, fractures. Extremely useful in treating injuries, falls, blows, contusions and shock from injury. Patient does not want to be touched. Cannot get comfortable. Sore, lame, bruised feeling with tendency for bruises to hemorrhage. Overuse of muscles. Tends to be cool.

8. Arsenicum album (Ars) – Useful for sudden weakness, restlessness and anxiety. Prostration seems out of proportion from the illness. CADAVEROUS ODORS, such as from diarrhea. Intense thirst; drinks little and often, which distresses the stomach and may be vomited immediately. Loss of appetite, with thirst. Twitching, trembling extremities. A wide variety of conditions can result in these symptoms, including exposure to some toxins and viruses; infections; eating rotten food, especially fruit or meat; or emotions.

9. Baptisia tinctoria (Wild indigo)

Remedy for influenzas that cause a profound prostration, weakness of the neck so head cannot be held in position, and with the inability to swallow food, only water.

10. Belladonna (Deadly nightshade)

Symptom complexes characterized by sudden and high fevers, redness, pain, thirstlessness, dilated pupils and panting. Heatstroke. Any condition with red, burning, dry mucous membranes or tissues. Red eruptions on the skin with high fevers.

11. Bryonia alba (Wild hops)

Any condition worse from any movement. Pleurisy and Pneumonia when even the movement of Breathing is painful.

12. Calendula (Cal) – Supports healing of open, torn, cut, lacerated, ragged or suppurating wounds. NOT USED WITH DEEP PUNCTURES. Hemorrhage after lacerations or scalp wounds. Promotes healthy granulations. Can be used topically (dissolved in water) or orally. Continue to follow standard wound management protocols.

13. Carbo vegetabilis (Carb-v) - General WEAKNESS, easily tired. EXHAUSTING DISEASE (e.g., respiratory distress, diarrhea, dehydration). ICY COLD and does not want heat. Some digestive problems.

14. Cinchona officinalis (China) – Used to treat debility from FLUID LOSS; PROFUSE, EXHAUSTING DISCHARGES, including diarrhea, hemorrhage, loss of vital fluids. Variety of gastro-intestinal and stool problems. Oversensitive to noise. Used in conjunction with the administration of isotonic fluids.
15. Gunpowder (Gunp) - Blood poisoning or septic suppurations after wounds. Wounds that are expected to become infected or septic (sometimes used prophylactically). Continue to follow standard wound management protocols. External use of Calendula may be complementary in some cases.
16. Hepar sulphuris (Hep) – Small wounds fester and become infected. OVERSENSITIVE to all impressions, cold, pain, noise, odors. Easily irritated. Chilly. The higher potencies may abort suppuration (30c), the lower may promote it (less than 30c). There are other homeopathic medicines used for different types of infections.
17. Hypericum (Hyper) – The great remedy for INJURIES TO THE NERVES, especially fingers, toes, nails, tail, coccyx. Punctured or lacerated wounds. Useful for excessive painfulness or crushing wounds. Concussions to the spine or brain. Spasms after injury. Effects of shock.
18. Ignatia (Ign) – Conditions arising from profound emotion, such as GRIEF or fright. Takes deep breath for relief (sighs, yawns). Hungry but loses appetite. Some neurological symptoms. Especially considered when an animal with close connections to mate, family, flock, or herd is separated from them, such as geese, corvids, raptors, fawns or juvenile rabbits. Often only a single dose of an Ign 30c or 200c has been needed in such cases.
19. Ledum (Led) – PUNCTURE wounds, including bites, stings, injections, and other intentional wounds. Puncture wound feels cold. Supports puncture healing from ‘inside out’. Bruises are swollen, puffy, and purple. Avoids placing weight on painful foot.
